1. Short and Concise Cover letter

Hello [Name of recruiter],

Hope your day is going well so far! My name is Ifrah. I'm greatly interested in the Frontend Developer role.

I have regularly used your service over the past 5yrs and understand the need to create a seamless experience for your customers. I have created my own web application using payment gateways and have extensive knowledge about scaling applications. -This part is really good-shows that you are interested in the company already as a user-might be good moving to the top.

Thank you for your time and consideration. I hope to hear from you soon.

All the best,

Ifrah Abdi

This cover letter will be useful when I want to send additional information which isn't too overwhelming. It shows that I am taking extra steps instead of just submitting my cv. I have used a personal tone to help portray a friendly and eager personality.

2. Detailed cover letter

Dear [name of recruiter],

These are some of the skills I can bring if selected:

- Creativity and Strong Work Ethic - I have over 2 years of experience with creating a web application for a local company that has grown in users and content over the years. I have personally worked through the whole lifecycle of the development.
- Team Leader and communication skills - I have worked in multiple diverse teams during hackathons and class projects in which I have developed my communication and leadership skills.

I am confident that I can bring my success and positive approach to your organisation and help Trainline to build upon its reputation as a high-quality rail and coach travel provider.

Thank you for your time and consideration. I look forward to meeting with you to discuss my application further.

Yours Sincerely,

Ifrah Abdi

This cover letter is more formal which can be used for more corporate companies such as banks or government companies. It provides an in-depth breakdown of my skills and can be used when a recruiter requests a more descriptive cover letter of my skills.
